

Brian M. Briggs

Managing Director
Applied Insights

Brian has built his career on helping financial professionals build meaningful, lasting relationships with their clients. With retirement planning's expansion from achieving financial security to longevity planning, he's passionate about educating audiences of all backgrounds about the challenges and opportunities that come with living longer. "If we're going to be living longer, there's a strong chance we'll be learning longer as well," Brian says.