

Amanda Stahl

Managing Director
Applied Insights

Armed with a master's degree in gerontology, Amanda has dedicated her career to helping financial professionals and their clients proactively address the challenges of aging and seize the opportunities that come with longevity. Amanda understands that, while we're bound by the universal experience of aging, it can vary greatly depending on individual circumstances, such as health, social support, and personal perspectives. She sees growing older as a privilege.